Dedication

*To My Wife, Annie Elizabeth, to whom I owe so much for patience and tolerance for the many hours I spent away from her in the compilation of this record,
I affectionately dedicate this volume.*

Author

The author of this book was born in Exeter Township, Berks County, about three miles southeast of Reading, Penna. At the age of four, his parents moved to Grandmother Rapp's farm, located in Alsace Township in the Oley Valley.

During the winter months he attended public school and worked on the farm assisting his parents during the summer months, until his fifteenth year when his parents decided to have sale and move on to a smaller place. He then was hired out on the farms along the Oley Valley, namely, Oley Line, Limekiln, P.O. His highest grade completed was the fifth and the head of the class.

In the fall of 1916 he left the farm and came to Reading, employed in the Iron Works until December of 1917. He then became an employee of the Reading Traction Company until May of 1923. He also served in World War 1.

In May of 1923, was appointed as a Rural Letter Carrier. His ambition in life was to be a traveling salesman, rural letter carrier or carpenter, to be in the open and travel. He has done considerable traveling in his spare time and took courses in bookkeeping and secretarial work which was very helpful in conducting his business later in years.

In the year of 1929 he went into business for himself and conducted this business until 1943 when World War 2 made materials hard to get. Then he again became a Postal Employee, being re-instated as a letter carrier and some day hopes to retire and do more traveling.

He is now living in Reading with his wife and daughter and has two more daughters living and two sons not living; also has nine grandchildren.

Preface

Having spent my whole life in the very community where our ancestors settled, having come in contact with many of my relatives, a peculiar interest and desire to know more about the Heffner's family grew with me especially since two of my Aunts migrated to the West and I had not seen them for years.

In the late summer of 1947, a cousin, Mrs. Jessie Carstenten from Maquoketa, Iowa, visited Pennsylvania and as her stay was limited, a plan was devised to have a family gathering at the Kutztown Park, Kutztown, in order to see as many of her relatives as possible. This was held September 7, 1947 and was well attended by the families.

Since so many attended this gathering, and in a course of several months, some progress was made to have a regular family reunion. A letter was sent out in April of 1948 to decide on a regular family reunion. The result of this meeting at my home was the beginning of the Heffner Family Reunion, which was held on my Grandfather's Homestead located $1\frac{1}{2}$ miles Northeast of Oley, Pa., formerly Oley Furnace.

When I became Secretary-Treasurer of this reunion, also Historian, a more peculiar interest and desire to write a history, especially to know more about my relatives living in the West, and this is the result for publishing this History.

I now present in this volume the results of my researches which consumed a generous portion of eight years; the material gathered from inscriptions on tombstones, family Bibles, Court House records, archives, Historical Societies, correspondence and personal interviews. As far as I know, there is no incorrect data incorporated in this work and the work is about as complete as practical and cannot be held liable for any errors, but should any errors be found later on, it will be corrected or advised to all who are interested.

Special thanks and recognition go to those who assisted in securing the information (wherever they are) in completing this book, especially Amos Breidegam of Bowers who had a copy of the records of Mertz's Church, where this family settled or originated and also to Irvin R. Heffner of Emmaus, Pa., who is also interested in the preservation of the Heffner Family. These records are given to show that I was familiar with this data, and for the benefit of the descendants of Johan Georg Haeffner.

Every member of the family tree is given a number in order to trace back to the original family and also another number in the back of the name since there were some intermarriages. Following are abbreviations used and the meaning of them:

B., Born	M., Married	Desc., Descendants	D., Died
Bur., Buried	Da., Daughter	Res., Residence	S., Single
Bap., Baptism	Ch., Church	Occ., Occupation	 Only information by family.

With the above few explanations it should be easy for anyone to trace his ancestry. My desire is that a volume of this history may find its way into every home of our families, so that our lives may be fired with even greater zeal and energy, as we recall the heroic deeds of our forefathers. With this fondest hope, I send forth this family history on this, my Fifty-ninth birthday anniversary.

Historical Sketch of the Origins of the Heffner Family in America

The ancestors of the Heffner Family in America came to Pennsylvania from the Upper Rhine Valley with the first and second great waves of German migration. They were among the vast numbers of those who left the "Vaterland" and braved the dangers and discomforts of a voyage across the stormy Atlantic in order to escape the devastation wrought in their native land by the armies of Louis XIV, the Duke of Marlborough and the House of Habsburg. On their arrival in the Province of Pennsylvania all above the age of sixteen were required to take an oath of allegiance to the King of England and the Proprietor of the Province. The names and the dates when the oaths were administered are carefully recorded and indexed in the Archives of the State.

The first Heffner whose name appears in the Archives is John George Heffner. On August 28, 1733 he landed from the ship, Hope, of London, and subscribed the oath. He first settled with his family in Germantown, presumably as a tenant or common laborer. Early in the 40's he moved with his family to Rockland Township, Berks County, and obtained patents for land on the northern slope of what is the eastern extension of the South Mountain about a mile from Dryville. The land which then came into the possession of him and his sons has continued in the uninterrupted possession of the descendants to the present. On one of these plots still stands the old log cabin which undoubtedly knew all of them and is in a good state of preservation. The ancestor's sons, John George and Jacob, succeeded to the possession of the old lands while the third son, Anthony, obtained a patent to land near Topton in Maxatwny Township.

About the middle of the 40's John George Heffner was instrumental in the organization of the Mertz's Church at Dryville, which has been the church home of his descendants to the present, while the cemetery adjoining it is the final resting place not only of him and his immediate family, but also of many of his descendants. From Rockland his descendants moved early to the valley of the Schuylkill, then northward across the mountains to what is now Schuylkill County, and thence northwest to Sunbury and the Buffalo Valley. Then, as the course of empire took its way westward, they followed with the tide of immigration into the valleys of the Ohio and the Mississippi and ultimately some of them reached the "Golden Gate."

Another son of John George Heffner, who settled in Rockland Township, was a Frederick Heffner, who was a fourth son. The best present evidence shows that toward the latter part of the 18th Century after the Revolution was over he moved with his family to the vicinity of Frederick, Maryland, from which place his descendants moved first to London County, Virginia, and then migrated Westward to Ohio and Kentucky and later some to Texas where one of them was Mayor of the city of Marlin.

On September 17, 1749, the immigrant ship, Patience, cast anchor in the Delaware and from her decks descended Heinrich Heffner and subscribed to the customary oath of allegiance. What his exact relation to John George Heffner was must be disclosed by the records of Eberstadt and Pfungstadt in Germany from which places respectively they came. The relationship probably was that of uncle and nephew. That he took up his residence at once in Richmond Township; is proven by the records of the old Moselem Church because his name appears in the original charter list of those who founded it. It is still the church home for many of his descendants while the cemetery adjoining it, is the final resting place of him and his immediate family.

On November 28, 1752 he was married and then established himself about a mile south of Virginville. His family consisted of two sons and four daughters. The oldest son, John Henrich, came into possession of the old homestead about 1784 at which time was executed the article of agreement between his father and him in relation to two of his sisters Magdalene and Catharine. In 1808-9 the other son, Han Georg, obtained a patent for 253 acres of land some distance east of the old stand. One of the other daughters, Anna Elizabeth, was married to Captain John Jacob Hummel of the Revolutionary Army and lived near Sunbury, then the western frontier of the Pennsylvania settlements. Of the other daughter we have no record.

The four sons of John George Heffner, George, Jacob, Anthony and Frederick Heffner, of Rockland, served with the Berks County Militia during the War of the Revolution as did also the oldest son of Henrich Heffner, of Richmond, John Henry, and the son-in-law, Captain John Jacob Hummel. Later descendants served in the War of 1812 and the Civil War. Others in civil life occupied positions of honor and trust and discharged them with honesty and fidelity. The learned professions knew quite a number on both sides; some being leading thinkers in their chosen lines.

Other Heffners came to Pennsylvania in the great migratory movements of the 18th Century but none of them established long lines of descendants.

THE MORNING CALL, Allentown, Pa., Sat., February 19, 1944

The ship mentioned in the article, docked about two days after George Heffner landed.

AN OLD LETTER

(No doubt our early ancestors after arriving in Pennsylvania wrote letters describing the trials and perils of the long sea voyage to those of their kin who remained behind in Switzerland, in the Palatinate and in the valley of the Rhine. Unfortunately but few such letters have been preserved.

Johannes Naas was a prominent elder and preacher in the earliest days of the German Baptist Brethren (Dunkards) in Germany. Alexander Mack, organizer of this sect, had come to Pennsylvania in 1729 and now urged Naas to join him in the new world. Johannes Naas with wife and daughter sailed on the Brigantine "Pennsylvania Merchant" and landed in Philadelphia in September, 1733. Shortly after his arrival he wrote a letter to his son then living in Switzerland. We offer it to our readers in English translation and considerably curtailed.—ED.)

Germantown, October 17, 1733.

Heartily Beloved Son, Jacob Wilhelm Naas,

I greet thee and thy dear wife Margareta, together with her dear children, very heartily. . . . The eternal and almighty God give you all much light of grace and faith so that you may not only choose the good in time of grace, but may you also win the true and active faith, in true sanctification and childlike obedience in Christ Jesus. Would that the great God through Jesus Christ might work this within us and in all who love His appearance. Amen, yes; Amen. . . .

The 24th of June we went from Rotterdam to within half an hour's distance from Dort, where we lay still, the wind being contrary. On July 3rd we started and the ship was drawn by men several times on the river Maas, as far as the neighborhood of Helvoetsluys. There the wind became favorable so that we sailed into the sea on July 5th, near Helvoetsluys. Then the seasickness began among the people, that is, dizziness and vomiting. The greatest number after having vomited could begin to eat again.

On the 13th of July, early in the morning, we arrived in the port of Plymouth, which port lies in the midst of rocks. We had to lie in the middle of the harbor until the ship was released by the customs officers and provisioned.

On July 21st we sailed into the big ocean and on our left we lost the land, France and Spain. The 24th we also lost it on our right, namely England. The 25th a little child died. It came upon the ship very sick; the next day about 8 o'clock it was buried in the sea. When the body fell from the plank into the water I saw with great astonishment that a large number of fish appeared and darted quickly away in front of the ship, as if they wished to flee from the corpse.

For ten days we had steadily a good breeze, so that we sailed a long way on the big ocean.

The 28th of July, before daylight, a French man-of-war by the name of Elizabeth, came near us. This Captain examined our Captain in French. After having made themselves known to each other, they wished one another a happy trip and each went on his course.

After this day we had very changeable weather so that in three week we made only sixty hours (about 180 miles), which in very good wind we could have done in one day. . . .

The 7th August during the night again a little child died and in the same hour a little boy was born, and the dead child buried at sea on the 8th. . . .

On the 13th again a little boy was born. The 17th we had another storm, which was much stronger than the first for six or eight hours and blew the sea very high up. It lasted for one and one-half days and one and one-half nights, but towards the end was not so strong. Sails, rudder, holes, everything was hurriedly fastened up and left to wind and sea. After that it grew so calm that we did not get much from the spot during several days. During this time the people got well again from dizziness and vomiting. Then we got again strong wind from the side by which we made good headway.

On the 23rd of August again a child died and was buried at sea that evening.

The 26th, about 5 o'clock P. M. we passed by a mast standing fast, the point of which showed a half yard above the water, quite immovable and with ends of rope still on it. By good fortune our ship passed it at about a rod's distance. The Captain had just been drinking tea. Many people were very much frightened by this sight, because it was impossible for this mast to be standing on the bottom and yet it was immovable. . . .

The 7th of September another big fish, a shark, was caught by the crew. The crew took a hook, which was very large and strong and of about a finger's thickness; to this they fasten one and one-half pounds of bacon. When they saw the fish near the ship's side they threw the hook with the bacon to him, which he swallowed at once and since the fish was very thick and five feet long and of great strength in his tail, as well in as out of the water, they drew him into the ship with a very hard pull, and drove back all the people, so that it should not hurt anybody, as he struck the deck so powerfully with his tail that if he should have hit any one against the legs, those would certainly have been struck in two. But after the ship's carpenter had cut off the tail with his axe after ten strokes, his strength was all gone. His mouth was so big that he might have swallowed a child of two years. The flesh the Captain ordered to be distributed to the delighted people.

On the 11th again a little child died, without anybody having noticed it until it was nearly stiff, and the 12th it was buried at sea.

The 13th a young woman, who had always been in poor health, died in child birth and was buried at sea on the 14th, with three children, two of them before and now the third just born, so that the husband has no one left now.

On the 16th in the morning about four o'clock a woman fifty years of age died; she had not been well during the entire trip and always repented having left her native place. She was buried at sea that same day.

And since the trip owing to the many changes of wind had lasted somewhat long, and the greater number of the people had all consumed their provisions, having expected only a journey of six weeks from land to land, they had gone on eating and drinking hard, from morning until late at night. Then at last they found it a great hardship to live on the ship's fare alone; thus the greater number so entirely lost courage that they never expected to get on land again. . . .

On September 18th a ship from Rhode Island came up to us. It had a cargo of sheep and other things, and was sailing to the West Indies. Our Captain had a boat lowered into the water and rowed with four seamen to their ship. When they had drunk the welcome together, he returned and brought with him half a bag of apples, a goose, a duck, and two chickens and distributed the beautiful apples at once among the people. That caused great rejoicing to get such beautiful American apples on the high sea, and those which were still left over he threw among the people to grapple for them. . . .

On the 20th again a young married woman died and was buried at sea the same night. . . . Thereupon we had a very heavy fall of rain that some people caught half kegs of water, only from the sails, and from the Captain's cabin. This was followed by a powerful wind-storm from the northwest. The sea rose up so high, that when one looked into it, it was just as if one were sailing among high mountains all covered with snow; and one mountain-wave rose over the other and over the ship so that the Captain and the First Mate and the Cook were struck by a wave that they kept not a dry thread on them; and so much water poured into the ship that many people's beds, which were near to the holes were quite filled with water. . . . Not a human being remained on deck, but one sailor who was tied fast in order to watch by the rudder; all the rest, the Captain, the mates, the seamen crawled into their beds in their wet clothes, and the ship lay sideways to the wind always on its side so that it drew water all the time, which however, poured out again. At midnight the waves struck so hard against the portholes aft, that two boards sprang away from the windows where some of the people lay in sleep and slumber, and the water rushed through the window, as big as it was, and straight into the beds, which caused a great terror to those who lay near the window. The water took away a board together with the rope; we all sprang up because the friends who lay near the window had not tied the board fast enough and the misfortune might have become a very great one. . . . The ship's carpenter the next morning made a new window board. The storm also abated a little and thus the anxiety of the people grew a little less and towards two o'clock in the afternoon it cleared, the wind ceased and the portholes in the ship were opened, and it was beautifully calm weather. Then the Captain quickly ordered a kettle of rice to be boiled, in order that the people might get something warm to eat that day and night for their supper.

The 22nd at noon the ship lay as still as a house then the people dried their clothes again. A good breeze sprang up at dinner time and blew all night, so still and so steady that one did not know in the ship that it was moving and yet made two miles and a half in one hour. At midnight the first soundings were made, 150 rods deep, and no bottom found.

The 23rd at nine o'clock another sounding was made and at 55 rods ground was struck and at eleven o'clock at 35 rods; shortly after, 20 rods; and yet we did not see any land, but were nearing the river (the Delaware). Then the people became very joyful on account of the good breeze and the ground being found. But the Captain did not trust himself to reach the river by daylight; since one could not see any land even, and at four o'clock in good wind he reefed the sails, and had the rudder tied fast, because there are many sandbanks in front and inside of the river.

Early in the morning all sails were set again and we headed for the river although the breeze was not very favorable and there was a heavy fog. . . . At twelve o'clock we saw the land with great rejoicing. Towards half past four we neared the river, for one is still six hours away from it when one gets in sight of it. Meanwhile I and the Captain caught sight of three boats sailing toward us; then the Captain cried, "These are the pilots or steersmen." One could hardly see them among the waves. Then he had all the sails set and was very glad that the pilots came to meet him. The first one who came he did not accept, but when the second came, whom he knew, he took him into the ship at once, intending to sail into the river that same night, however, when we were on both sides against the land just in front of the river, suddenly from the southwest a storm broke loose such as we had never yet had. Then all had to help reef the sail, and the anchor was thrown out for the first time. . . . So we lay at anchor all night and the storm soon ceased.

The 25th, early in the morning, we weighed anchor, set sail, and tacked into the river. We saw there on both sides with so much joy, as can easily be imagined, the land and the beautiful trees near the shore just as if they had been planted there.

On the 26th the before mentioned last born baby died and was buried in the river. That same day during the night we sailed into the narrows of the river, which is indeed very delightful to see, as wide as the Rhine where it is the widest, and on both banks are the most beautiful woods and groves and here and there houses stand on the banks which have fish nets hanging to dry in front of them.

The following day, the 27th, we passed New Castle with little breeze and in a very dense fog. This town lies forty miles distant from Philadelphia. Since we had very little wind we had to sail mostly with the tide or with the current of the water, therefore we sailed during the 28th, and on the afternoon of the 29th we arrived safely in Philadelphia.

We were met by brethren and sisters in small boats who brought us fine bread, apples, peaches and other refreshments of the body, for which we gave thanks to the Highest publicly on the ship near the city, with singing and ringing shouts of delight. With many tears we praised and glorified the Lord for having preserved us in His Father's hand, and having carried us as on the wings of the eagle so that we all could meet again in love on this side of Eternity. See, dear children, brethren and friends, this is in short the description of our journey across the very big sea!

Now that we have safely arrived in this land and have been met by our own people in great love and friendship all the rest has been forgotten in a moment (so to speak), for the sake of the great joy that we had in one another. This hardship has lasted about nineteen weeks; then it was over, wherefore be all the glory to the Highest: Amen, yea; Amen!

For it does not rue us to have come here, and I wish with all my heart that you and your children could be with us; however, it cannot be and I must not urge you as the journey is so troublesome for people who are not able to patiently submit to everything, but often in the best there are restless minds, but if I could with the good will of God do for you children all, I assure you that I would not hesitate to take the trip once more upon me for your sake; not because one gets one's living in this land in idleness! Oh! no; this country requires diligent people, in whatever trade they may be—but then they can make a good living. There are, however, many people here, who are not particularly successful; it would seem that if some people were in paradise it would go badly with them. Some are to be blamed for it themselves; for when they come to this country and see the beautiful plantations; the number of fine cattle; and abundance in everything; and, knowing that they have only just come here, then they want to have it like that at once and will not listen to any advice but take large tracts of land with debts, borrow cattle and so forth. These must toil miserably until they get independent. Well, what shall I say, so it is in the world where always one is better off than the other. If a person wants to be contented here with food and shelter, he can under the blessing of God and with diligent hands get plenty of it. 'Our people are all well off; but some have more abundance than others, yet nobody is in want. What I heard concerning the people who do not have the money for the passage, surprised me greatly, how it goes with the young, strong people . . . also old people who have grown children and who understand nothing but farm-labour, there the child takes two "freights" (meaning ship fares) upon itself, its own and that of the father or of the mother for four years (referring to the system of indentured service) and during that time it has all the clothing that is needed and in the end an entirely new outfit from head to foot, a horse or a cow with the calf. Small children often pay one freight and a half until they are 21 years old. The people are obliged to have them taught writing and reading and in the end to give them new clothes and present them with a horse or a cow.

There are few houses to be found in city or country where the people are as well off, that do not have one or two such children in them. The matter is made legal at the city hall with great earnestness. There parents and children often will be separated 10 to 20 hours (in distance) and for many young people it is very good that they cannot pay their own freight. These will sooner be provided for than those who have paid theirs and they can have their bread with others and soon learn the ways of the country.

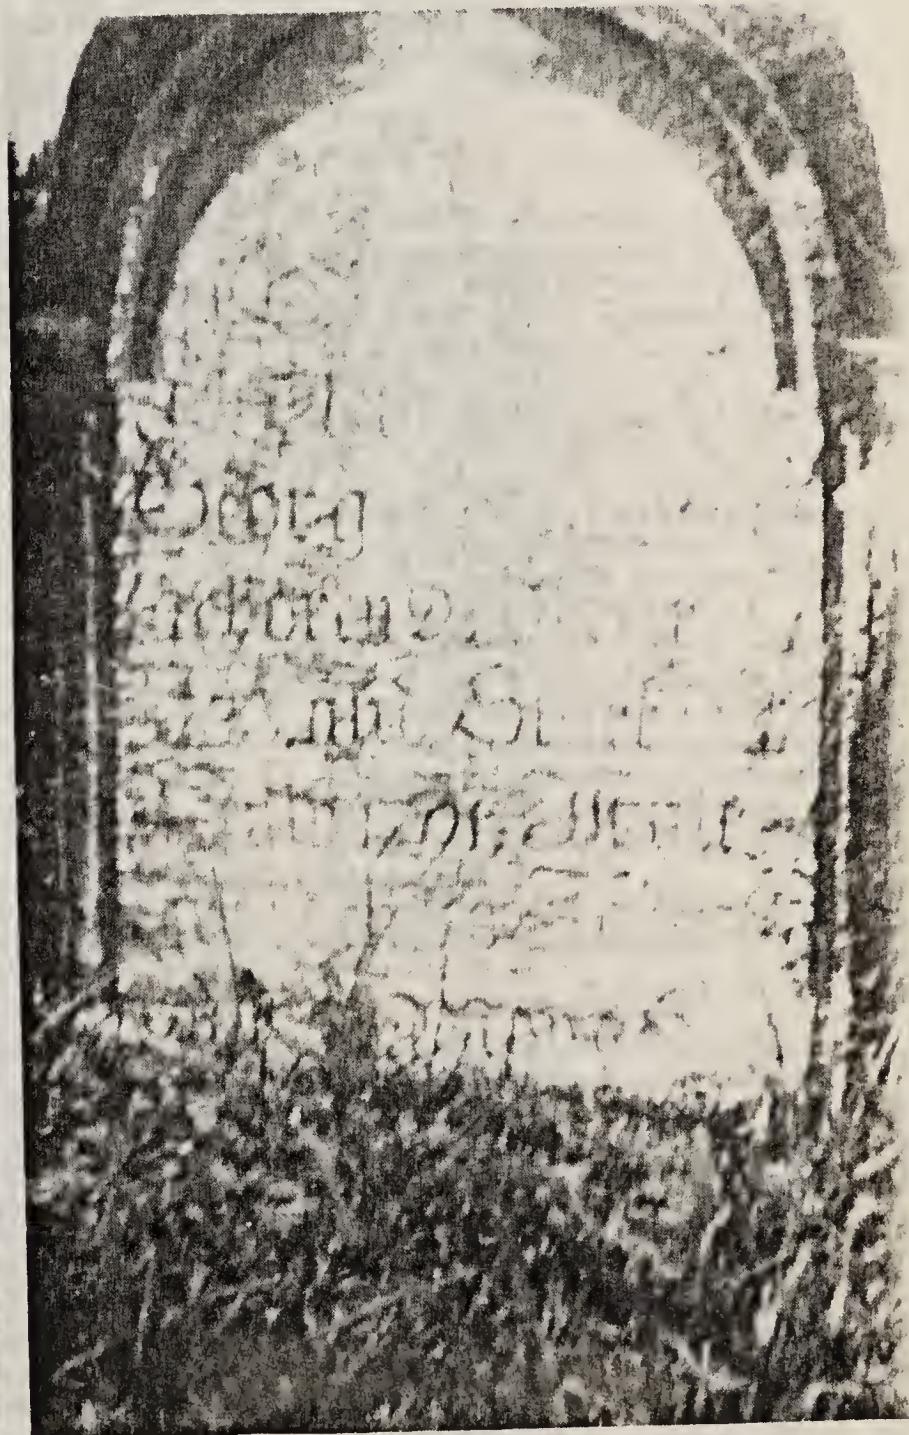

I will make an end of this and wish patience to whomsoever reads this. God be with you all, Amen

JOHANNES NAAS.

Christ (Mertz) Lutheran Church, Dryville, Pa.

Christ (Mertz) Lutheran Church is the beginning of the Haeffner family tree of this community. It is one of the outstanding Churches in this community. The achievement was accomplished by commemorating the life of Christ, and receiving the blessing of God because of true fellowship with mankind, loving and respecting each other, working together as one in the house of the Lord, keeping the ten commandments. One generation shall praise thy works and shall declare the mighty acts.

Psalm 145-4

This congregation was organized early in 1747 by the Rev. Tobias Wagner. The first church was erected in the spring of 1747 on three-fourth of an acre of land donated by Henry Mertz. Like many of the first church buildings, of that period, it was built of logs and was ready for use by fall of the same year.

The second church building was erected in 1764 during the pastorate of the Rev. Johann Helfrich Schaum. The cornerstone was laid June 1, 1764. The second church was built inasmuch as the first church was too small to accommodate the congregation, the number of whose members had greatly increased. The congregation worshipped in the first church building during the fearful French and Indian War of 1755-1763, and the second church was erected after the close of the war. In this second church, the fathers worshipped from 1764 to 1798.

During these 34 years, the following pastors served the congregation: J. Helfrich Schaum, Daniel Lehman and possibly Charles Frederick Wildbalm.

The third church building was erected in 1798, 51 years after the erection of the first church building. On May 12, 1799, the proposition to the congregation to apply for the incorporation of the congregation was signed by Philip Mertz, Conrad Ernst, George Drey, Theobold Bieber, Jacob Bieber, Peter Fisher, Jacob Henrich, Abraham Bieber and Peter Weyda. The petition for the charter was signed November 25, 1799, by 68 persons. The charter was prepared in English and German and contained 14 names.

The records show that on March 9, 1827, an agreement was made and signed with Andreas Krause for a $608 organ of ten stops to be ready for Whitsunday.

This third building was used 61 years and necessary repairs were made from time to time. In 1859, the building was renovated, new flooring and new pews replaced the old, the chancel was changed and a railing added. The old wineglass pulpit was removed and a new one erected.

In 1873, a new organ was secured. A steeple and bell were added and the church was frescoed in 1879. In 1895, the wooden ceiling, the frescoing of the walls and new carpets constituted the last renovations of the church.

The 100th anniversary of the erection of the third church building was observed on September 11, 1898. A son of the congregation, the Rev. Benjamin G. Welder, Reamstown, delivered the morning sermon in German. The Rev. F. J. F. Schantz, D.D., Myerstown, historian of the Lutheran ministry, delivered the historical sermon, and the Rev. C. F. Dry, Mifflinville, Pa., another son of the congregation, delivered an English sermon. At noon, the old church bell tolled 100 strokes in honor of the occasion, successfully conducted by the Rev. B. E. Kramlich, the pastor.

In December, 1909, the Rev. William H. Kline, a native of Maxatawny township, was called to the Parish, and has faithfully served since that time.

On February 14, 1915, the congregation, by a large majority, decided to build a new church. On April 11, 1915, following Communion services, the ground was broken, with Pastor Kline turning the first shovelful.

The cornerstone laying took place on June 20, 1915. The ceremonies were conducted by Pastor Kline, assisted by the Rev. Charles Kistler, Reading, president of the Reading Conference; the Rev. J. O. Henry, superintendent of the Lutheran Home at Topton, former pastor of the congregation; and the Rev. A. C. Schenck, Philadelphia, Pastor Henry's predecessor.

The new church, costing $11,000 was dedicated on Whitsunday, June 11, 1916.

On November 26, 1922, three services were held in celebration of the 175th anniversary of the founding of the congregation. The $4,700 organ was dedicated on November 7, 1926, and on October 30, 1932, the 185th anniversary of the congregation was observed.

October 21, 1934, commemorated the 25th anniversary of the pastorate of the Rev. William H. Kline, and on September 26, 1937, the 190th anniversary of the congregation was celebrated.

Following renovations to the Church, a special service was held on October 22, 1939, which also marked the 30th anniversary of the pastorate of Rev. Kline. The cemetery was enlarged on August 20, 1944, and on April 5, 1945, Pastor Kline observed his 35th anniversary as pastor of the church.

On November 25, 1945, St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Fleetwood, became a separate Parish, but Christ (Mertz) Dryville, and Trinity Lutheran, Topton, remained in the Parish.

On September 29, 1946, the amplification system was installed and used for the first time, on June 1, 1947, special Memorial Day services featured the blessings of vestments, red paraments, lowering of service flag, unveiling of plaque and blessing of the amplification system.

The bi-centennial of the congregation was observed on October 19, 1947.

The Church School

On February 16, 1902, a meeting was held for the purpose of organizing a Church School. On March 30, 1902, the constitution was adopted and the following officers were elected: Amos Breidigam, superintendent; Milton Readinger, assistant superintendent; Elda Angstadt, recording secretary; Oscar Heffner, financial secretary; Clarence Keiser, treasurer; Estella Drummheller, librarian; and Andora Herbein, organist. An organ for the Church School was dedicated in August, 1902.

The Congregation has given six of its sons in the work of the Lord as ministers of the Gospel. The Rev. Benjamin G. Welder, ordained in the ministry 1886; Rev. Charles F. Dry ordained 1890; Rev. William S. Dry ordained 1909; Rev. Clarence E. Keiser ordained 1908; Rev. Elton L. Angstadt, ordained 1929, and the Rev. Charles G. Heffner 383-3 part 1, ordained in 1908, serving Mohnton, Pa. for many years. Most of these have gone to their great reward in Heaven and may they rest in Peace and may their memories be long remembered by those who are to carry on in the future.

A number of pictures of the Church and nearby surroundings are on the following pages, in order that some of the younger generation can visualize what was accomplished by their forefathers and that they will follow in their footsteps.

German Origin

The Haeffner family originated from Eberstadt, Germany. The elder Henrich Haeffner was born in the year 1644. No other records can be found. We are reasonable sure that he was the father of Johan Georg Haeffner. Names of the family were spelled many different ways. Example, Haeffner, Haefer; Hoeffner, Hafner, Hefner and Heffner as of today.

Johan Georg Haeffner who braved the dangers and discomfort of a voyage across the stormy Atlantic to escape devastation in their native land, and find a new world in which to live and worship God according to their own free will. They came from the upper Rhine Valley on the ship of Hope of London, Dan Reed master from Rotterdam last from Cowes, with 83 males and 81 females over 16 years old and 225 under sixteen, totaling 389 passengers.

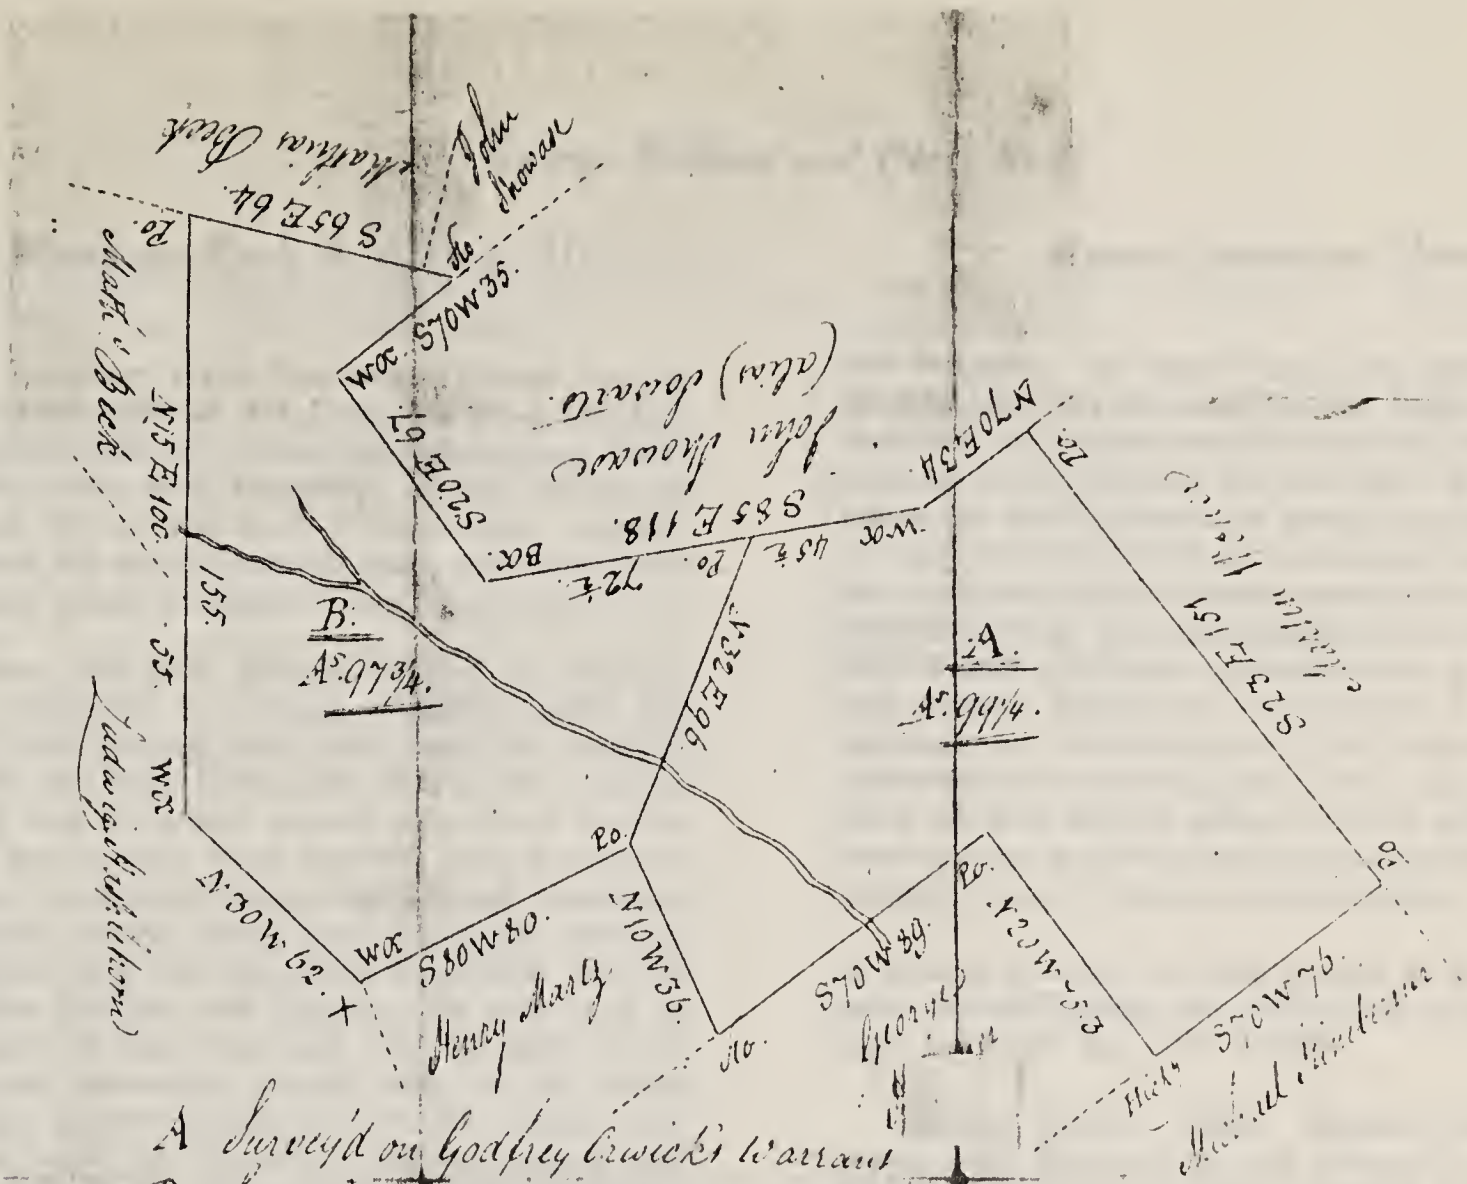

Lehigh County Centennial History, Vol. 3, page 891, shows that this ship sailed from Rotterdam, May 6, 1733, landed in Philadelphia on August 23, 1733, subscribed the Oath of Allegiance, with signature on record in Philadelphia Court House.

He first settled in Germantown with his family presumably as a tenant or common laborer. In the early 40's of the 1700, moved with his family to Rockland Township, Berks County and obtained patents on the northern slope of the South Mountains, about one mile west of what is now known as Dryville, or about 14 miles northeast of Reading.

Records show that he had four sons; Frederick, Jacob, George and Anthony. All served in the Revolutionary War. After the death of Johan Georg Haeffner, Jacob and George succeeding the possession of the old land, while Anthony obtained a patent to the land in Maxatawny township. Zions Union Church of Maxatawny now stands on part of the land. Frederick, towards the latter part of the 18th century, after the Revolution was over, moved with his family in the vicinity of Frederick, Maryland, and later some of his descendants moved westward. However, he was buried in Philadelphia German Reformed Church.

Johan Georg Haeffner and others were instrumental in the organization of Christ (Mertz) Lutheran Church. He was married to his second wife in the church, February 24, 1756, to Johanna Barrall, widow of John Barrall. Orstel his first wife was born in Germany, 1698 according to the records found but her burial place is not quite certain.

5. Elizabeth Heffner, B. Feb. 15, 1785; Bap. May 16, 1785.

There are very few records from this family since there were several burial places that the families buried before the Zions Union Church was built and later was destroyed, especially on one of the farms where the records were lost.

The above records were found in Philadelphia Museum where the earlier records of the churches are kept. Should in the future more records be found, all those who are interested will be supplied by a supplementary in later years by contacting the writer.

These records of Heinrich Heffner are the best that could be found by the writer at this time and since there are no records of the four daughters, it will take considerable time in research to locate the missing and place them in proper order.

Should there be a more and complete record found in the future, another volume will be issued as I expect to do more research of these missing persons of the Heffner clan.

PART TWO

Historical Sketches

This historical part of this work has references specially, and in most cases only (unless special mentioned) to those sections of Berks County which are the homes of those families whose genealogy is herein presented.

It belongs to the History of the World to record when important inventions, discoveries or public improvements were made, but to the History of the particular localities to say when that neighbor first realized the fruits of the same, these annals will therefore show what marvelous changes have taken place the last two centuries in those particular localities inhabited by the Heffner and descendants.

Two hundred years ago what is now Berks County was but a vast wilderness inhabited by wild beasts and Indians almost everywhere. Reading had but one house in 1750. In 1752 there were 130 dwellings, 41 stables, and other outhouses consisting of 160 families, population 378 persons and in this year Berks County was erected. It was territory that had previously been parts of Philadelphia, Lancaster and Chester Counties.

About this time or a little earlier Johan Georg Haeffner and his family made their way from Philadelphia, and established himself in the vicinity of the beautiful and fertile valley of the Ontelaunee, below the mouth of the Saucony, located 8 miles northeast of Reading, near the Borough of Fleetwood. This was indeed a paradise, whose inhabitants wore clothes manufactured in other lands beyond the wide Atlantic Ocean.

Mode of Travel

Mode of travel was on horseback, or coach drawn by horses through the forest trails left by the Indians, later railroads were built and drawn by iron horses or engines.

Roads

As the population increased the wants of roads, something better than trails of the Indians was necessary, in 1736 at the June session of the Provincial Court of Philadelphia, a petition was presented for a road from Jacob Levan's Mill in Maxatawny to the King's Highway by John Yoder's fence in Oley. The Court granted the petition, appointed as viewers John High, John Yoder, Jr., Samuel Golden, Benjamin Langaworthy, Abraham Ashman, and Thomas Ellis, all of Oley by whom the road was laid out and extends from Pleasantville via Lobachsville, Stony Point (Dryville) to Kutztown.

Maidencreek road, from the mouth of the Maiden-creek to the ford (Reading), six miles nearly in a straight line surveyed in 1745.

Tulpehocken road, the earliest road from Delaware at Philadelphia, to Susquehanna by the way of Reading, in 1687. In 1768 a road was regularly laid from Reading to Fort Augusta (Sunbury) at the Susquehanna by the way of Middletown (now Womelsdorf) and Rehner's Tavern over the blue and broad mountains.

The Center turnpike from Philadelphia to Reading to Hamburg, Ashland, to Sunbury was constructed between 1805 and 1812.

The Berks and Dauphin turnpike was started as soon as the Harrisburg bridge was passable and completed in 1817.

The first cross country turnpike was started in the year 1940, from Carlisle, Pa. to Pittsburg, Pa. In the year of 1954, a new link was completed from Philadelphia to the Ohio state line. In the year of 1955 completed the turnpike to the state line of Indiana. In 1956 the New York Turnpike was connected with Pennsylvania Turnpike, you can now travel from Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, to New York without a stop, except to pay toll.

The first stage coach from Philadelphia to Reading was established by Martin Hausman in the year of 1789 a distance of 54 miles, a round trip required 2 days of travel, and this brings us to the time of 1791 when the Pennsylvania legislature took steps to join the waters of the Susquehanna and the Schuylkill by digging a Canal through the present day Lebanon Valley, two years later George Washington, President of the United States, accompanied David Rittenhouse, the great astronomer and General Joseph Hiester on an inspection tour along the Tulpehocken Creek with a view to building a canal westward from Reading. In 1811 the Union Canal was opened, the life of this canal was short of duration, for in 1886 Capt. John Zechman piloted the last boat through the locks eastward, along the Tulpehocken, near West Reading, directed the prow of monarch against the stone foundations of the lock.

The Schuylkill Canal, built between 1817 and 1822 had a longer lease of life, coal-barges floated southward as late as 1919, and as this was a slow means of transportation, and the Steam Engines took the place of transporting materials.

PART TWO

THE SECOND PART

The first part of the book is devoted to a general survey of the history of the world, from the beginning of time to the present day. It is a very interesting and informative work, and it is well worth a read.

Railroads

First railroad in Pennsylvania, Mauch Chunk to Summit Hills, distance 9 miles, year of 1827. The Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, commonly known as the Reading, was built 1833 to 1838 to Pottsville in 1842 branch lines were added Reading to Harrisburg in 1858; Allentown 1864; Wilmington 1874; Slatington 1874, a branch of Pennsylvania Railroad to Reading in 1874.

Trolleys

Steam trolleys ran from Reading to Mohnsville and Adamstown, replaced by electric in 1910. Trolleys were first drawn by horses in the City of Reading, but were replaced by electric trolleys in 1893. Trolleys were used for means of transportation through Berks County, connecting with other parts of the country until January 7, 1952, and are now replaced by busses.

Automobiles

It may come as a surprise to some of our younger people to learn that automobiles were built in Reading, early in our present century, Charles Duryea, who had invented the first gasoline automobile eight earlier, came to Reading, and for a period of eleven years (1900-1911) he manufactured cars in this city. Duryea Drive along Mt. Penn Boulevard was named after him. It was a Duryea car that first climbed Mt. Penn in high gear, and one of these cars are exhibited in Cleveland, Ohio museum.

The Reading, built by Irvin D. Lengel, in 1901, the Svg and Acme built by Henry M. Sternbergh and his associates. In 1915 George Daniels and Neff E. Parish built a car known as Daniels. The Fisher Body Works manufacturers of the nationally known Fisher Body was operating in Fleetwood until recently, Parish Manufacturing Company in Reading are making a large quantity of automobile frames for auto manufacturing all over the United States.

Two centuries of recorded history in the Western Hemisphere is a long time indeed. In 1748 the agents of the heirs of William Penn laid out streets and sold building lots in a village which they named in honor of Reading, England.

The new town prospered. It became a center of industry and trade during colonial times and a market for the agricultural products of the fertile farms in Berks County. In 1847 Reading was incorporated as a city. From that time to the present it has been an industrial center of ever increasing importance.

The growth of manufacturing has not served to diminish the actual importance of Reading and Berks County. Relatively, of course, manufacturing has superceded farming, but the two types of enterprises flourish side by side, each supplementing the other in many ways.

The metal trades have formed a major portion of the industrial activity in Berks County for more than two centuries. Ever since Thomas Rutter set up the first iron furnace on the banks of the Manatawny, in 1716, a large percentage of the population of Berks has been employed in the iron industry. Today more than sixteen percent of all wage earners in the county are employed in iron and steel industries, hardware manufacture, foundries and machine shops.

Few persons would think of Berks as a mining area, and yet, the value of its mine and quarry products is more than one million dollars each year, and the value of the output of its metal industries is more than one hundred and sixty million dollars. This represents a tremendous growth in an industry which had its feeble beginning in the small charcoal furnaces which dotted the countryside nearly two centuries ago.

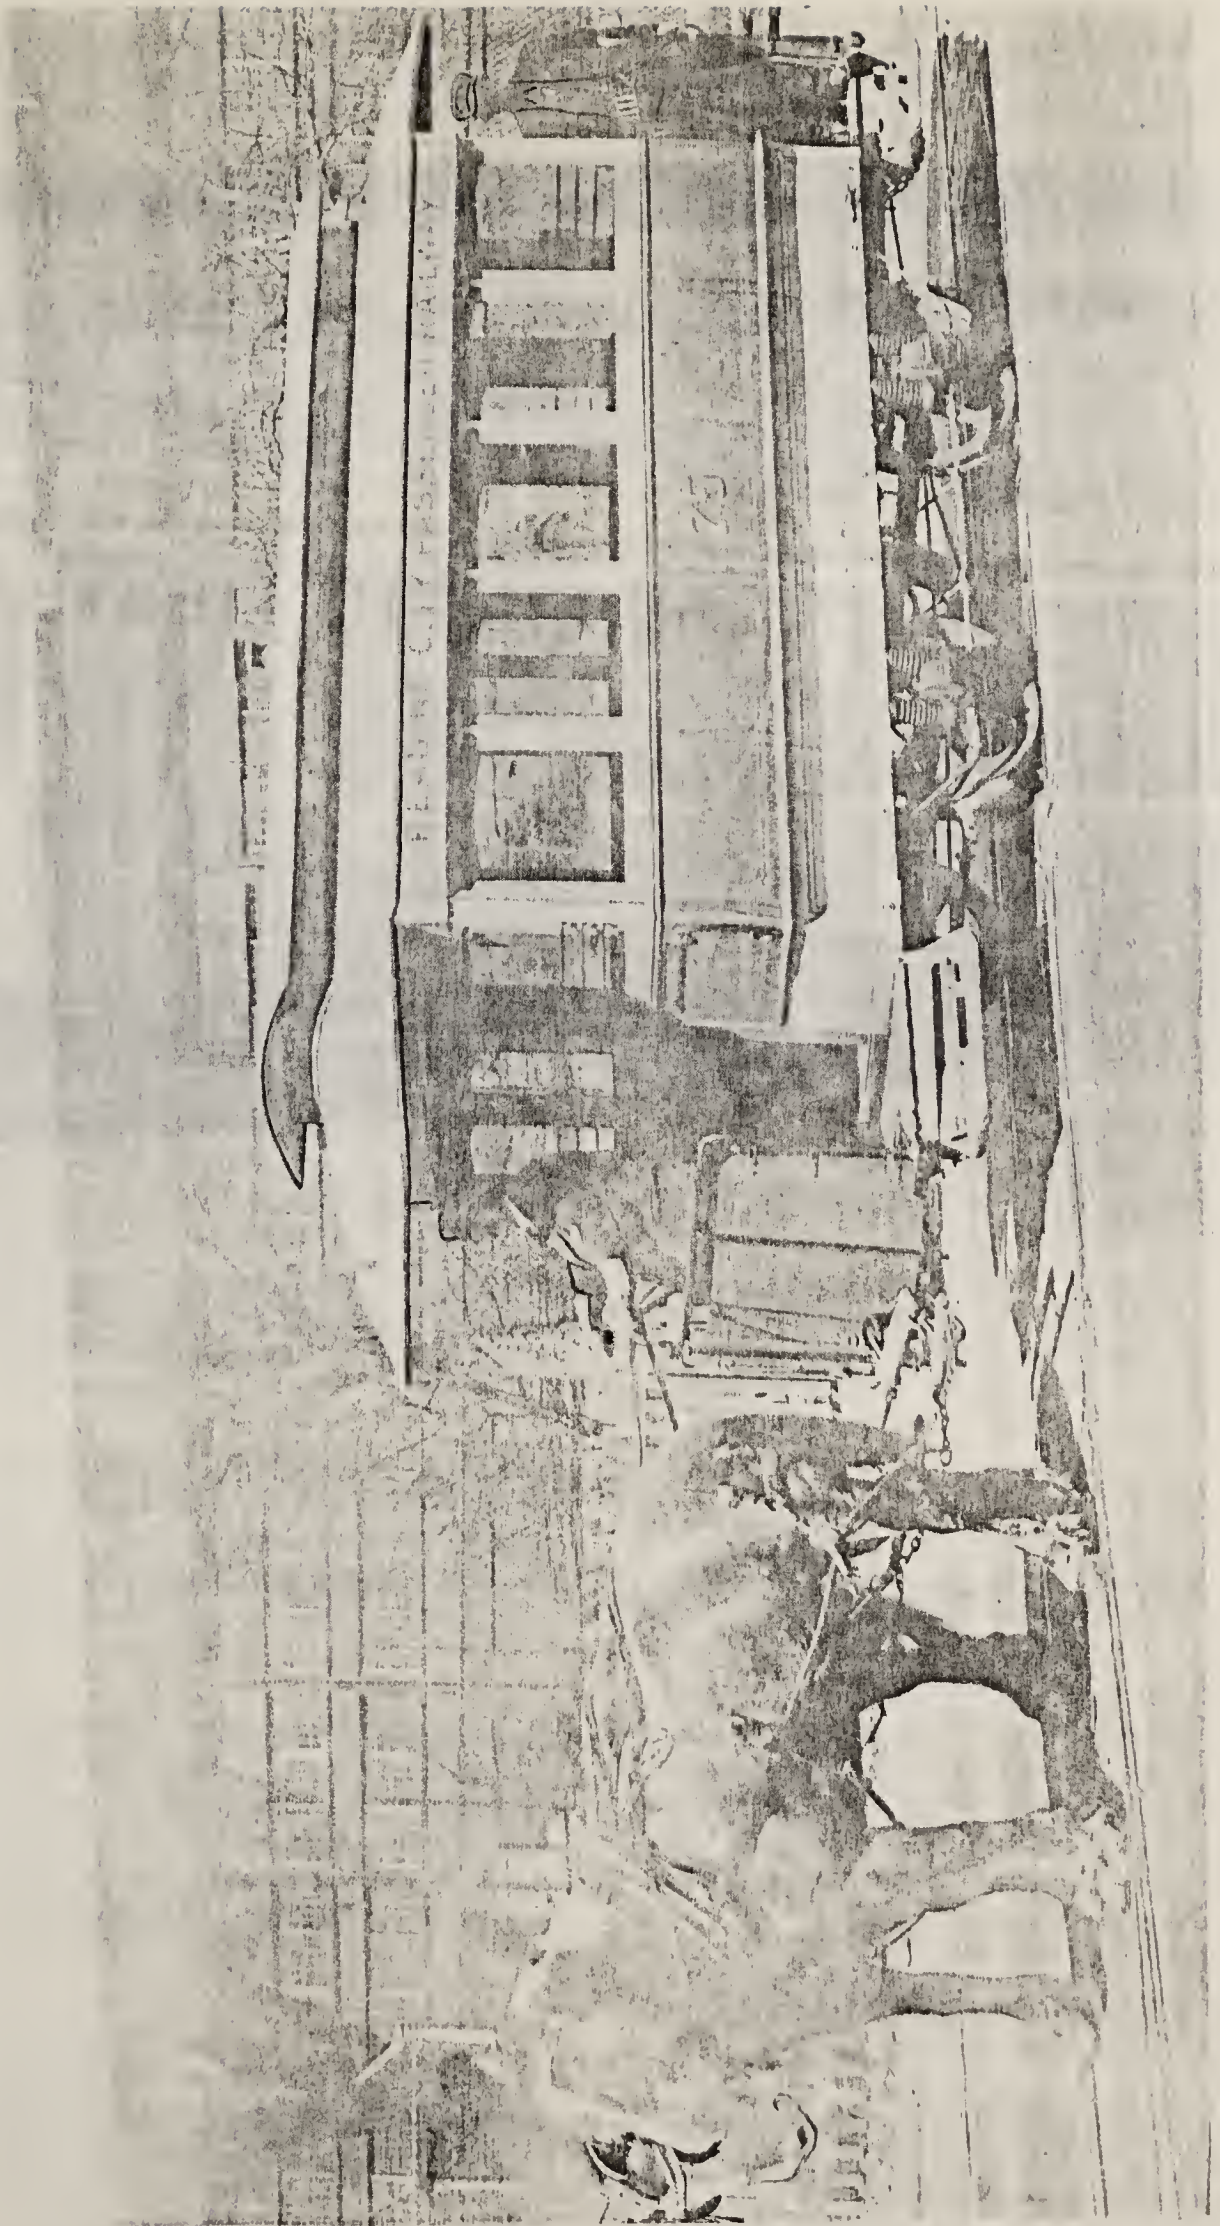

In Berks and the neighboring counties lay the mineral deposits needed to develop the iron industry, there were strong hands to extract them and enterprising minds to devise means to process them. Hermatite and magnetic ores were here in abundance. These minerals were vastly superior to the bog iron of New Jersey, where the iron industry began much earlier than in Pennsylvania.

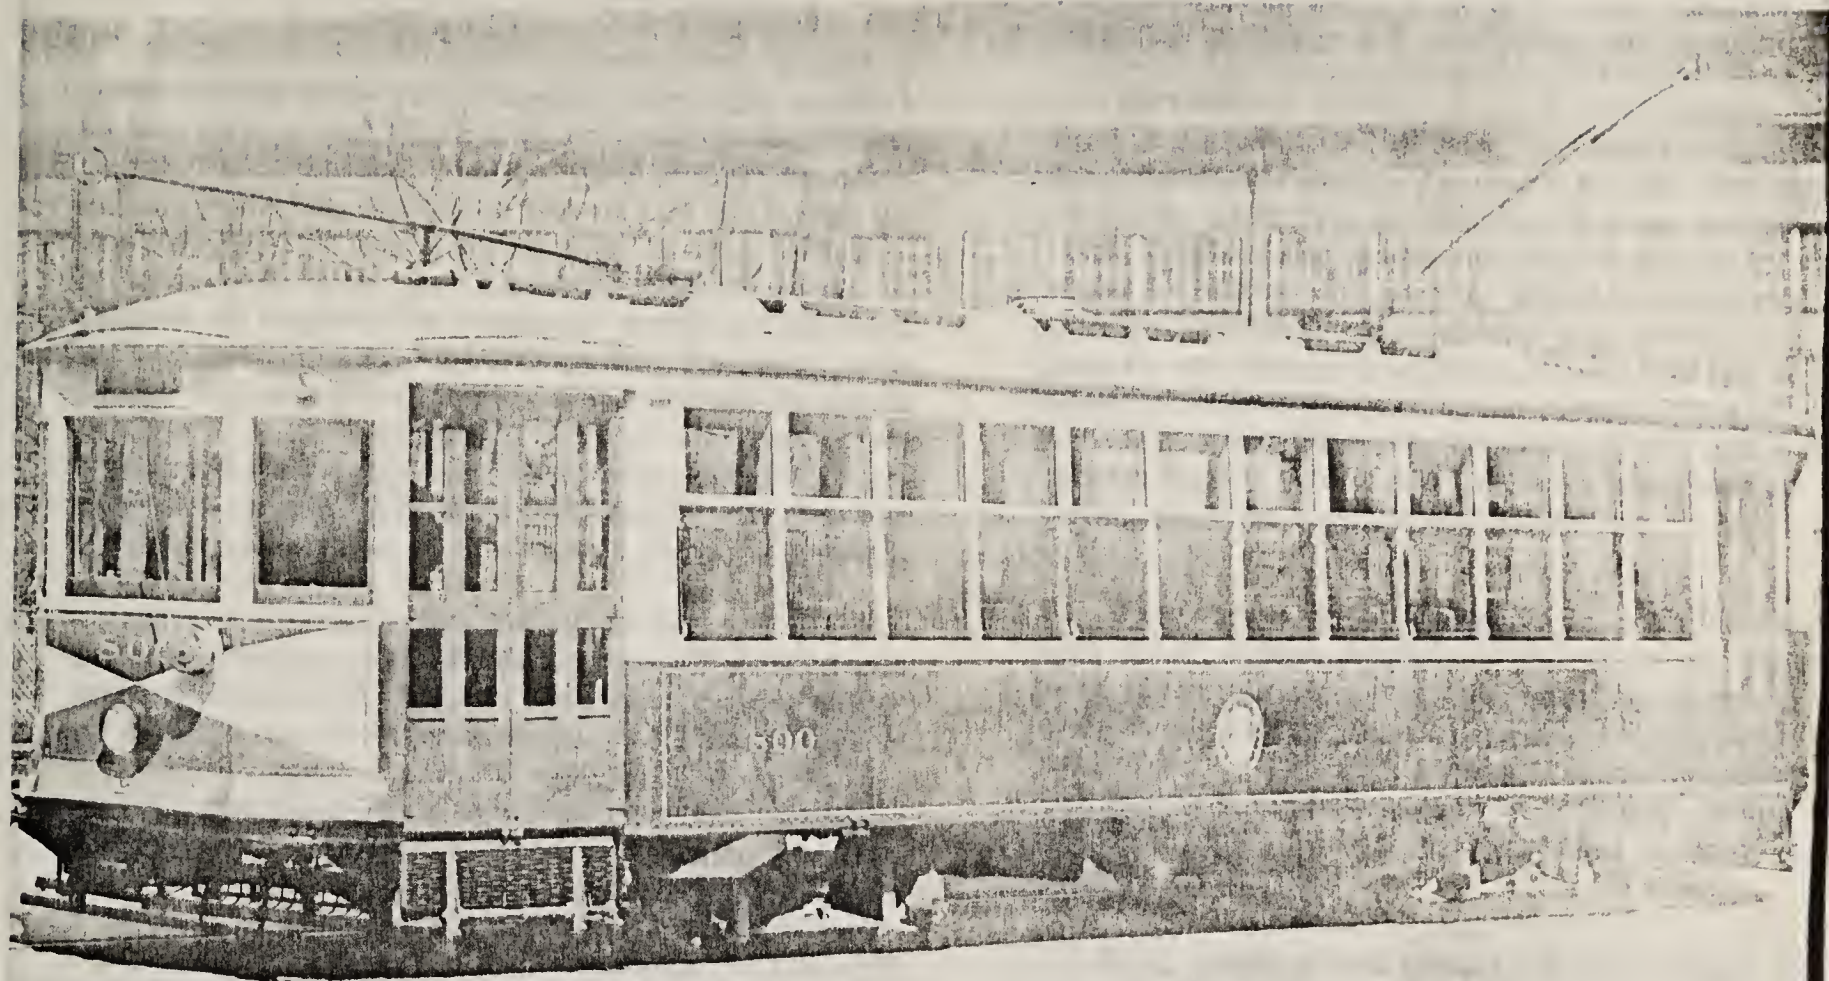

Lime stones could be converted into slaked lime in the kilns which may still be seen, now crumbling piles of bluish-white rocks, standing near the edges of fields, burnt lime was used in the process of smelting iron ore.

The most important natural resource in the early days of charcoal furnaces was the stand of virgin timber, fuel was then, as it is now, a matter of primary consideration in the smelting of ore and forging of metals. For the first century of the iron industry the available acreage of uncut forests was the largest factor in determining the assets of the iron industry.

Modern farmers are frequently mystified to find circular islands in their plowed fields where the top soil is almost black, while the land surrounding is colored a lighter shade of chocolate brown. That island was once the base of a burning cone, or tent shaped pile of leaning logs of oak, being slowly charred into charcoal.

The use of anthracite and bituminous coal developed after the iron industry in Berks was more than one hundred years old. Coke, which is to coal what charcoal is to wood, came into use in the iron industry after 1850. Steam and gasoline and electric have added to the sources of fuel since then.

So long as the American colonies were subject to Great Britain their iron industries were held in check by the various restrictive laws imposed by the mother country, and because Britain had limited resources of supply she was willing to permit and encourage the smelting of iron into bars or pigs as they called it, in this crude form the American product could be shipped to England for finishing, except a few tools, such as axes, picks, and stove plates. However, some forges and slitting machines were erected in Berks in spite of restrictions, and played a vital part in the struggle for independence, and from 1775-1783, cannons and cannon balls were furnished by the Reading Furnace which stood at the base of South Mountains.

After the war the iron industries suffered a severe set back, because war orders ceased and world trade was not demanding pig iron. This sorry picture changed early in the nineteenth century when the various important acts placed upon foreign goods forced Americans to rely upon their own resources and patronize their infant industries. Protective tariffs and the great demands for machines made of iron that came with the industrial Revolution brought a boom to the iron industry in Berks. The full impact of the shift from hand labor to machine labor was not felt in the United States until the decade between 1830 and 1840, England had kept a very jealous eye upon the secrets of industrial miracles, but, in time ingenious Americans probed those mysteries. The vast store of American resources was brought into full play by the middle of the last century.

(Early furnaces in Berks County) Colebrookdale 1720, Mt. Pleasant, (Barto-Bally) 1738; Hereford (Mensch's Mills) 1740; Hopewell (near Chester County line) 1759 (now the site of a National Park and Recreation Center) Oley Furnace, Friedensburg (near the Homestead) 1765; and many others.

After 1880 the number of industries engaged in the metal trades grew very rapidly. The development of the steel casting industry, the growth of Railroad shops, the establishment of huge machine works and the expansion of the hardware industry, all are allied in this story of the iron industry in Berks.

Agriculture

Two hundred years ago a weary people found this pleasant land, where they would worship God to their own dictation, here at last they were free in these valleys found the rich soil mingled with bluish stones, gently rolling hills sloped toward creeks and rivers, it was like homeland that they knew so well, no aggressors, bigots and no feudal masters, they could own their own land, but lots of hard work, clearing to be made for planting and cultivating the land.

Farming in spring is hard and tedious work. First the ground or soil must be turned and this was done by horses pulling the plow to turn the ground, next was harrowing to smooth the land, and furrows made to plant the seeds, and then it has to be cultivated to mature the plants. Grass was cut early in summer and left to dry, and then was stored for winter feed for the domestic animals, wheat was cut with a sickle at this time, tied up in sheaves, stored away for the winter. Corn was cut towards fall and put on shocks to dry, after that the corn was husked and stored away in bins for the winter use.

Since then a great change has taken place, especially since modern machinery has taken the place of hand labor. Hay is now dried, baled by machines and grain is cut and threshed by machine right in the open field, corn is cut and husked in one operation by tractors furnishing the power, very few horses are now used on farms, and trucks are used to market the product of the farm.

Food, clothing and shelter are the primary wants of men, in Berks we live common, but good, (The Old Pennsylvania Dutch) generous portion of Sauer Kraut, Schnitz und Knepp, Panhaus, Kuddelfleck, and Shoo-fly Cake. Traditionally, the Berks housewife is supposed to serve seven sweets and seven sour. Baking day on the farm usually resulted in several dozens of pies, hillock of cookies, an array of iced layer cakes, and hampers filled with home baked bread.

In the summer months diligent hands gathered, cleaned and processed hundreds of jars of vegetables for canning, wastefulness is sinfulness, a very common saying in the typical Berks household; it is a way of life. Other jars, sealed with paraffin, contained the berries, and fruit processed in syrups, mountains of potatoes rested in spacious bins, somewhere on the premises in a subterranean chamber apples were buried to guard against decay, on the floor of an arched, man made cave, there were turnips, cabbages, carrots, and in season, melons, pears, plums and berries.

The smoke-house was the Treasury of the farmer, on S-shaped hooks hang suspended the ingredients of many feasts, hams, bacon sides, summer sausage, six inches in diameter and a yard long, slabs of dried beef, all of these meat products together with a half dozen 50-pound cans of lard, rows of crocks filled with meat pudding, jars packed with preserved tender loins and unsmoked sausage, all of these are the family's rewards for labor, patience, and skill at butchering time. Let the storms blow the farmer has enough for his family, and some to spare for others, no wonder the key to the smoke-house was kept in a secret place.

The foregoing paragraphs have been used because modern science has changed the mechanical process of preserving food.

The real Berks County cook is a chemist, and her kitchen is her laboratory, she knows little about such mysterious things as calories or vitamins, flavor and nutrition are her chief concern, her formulas are inherited from generations past. Cole slaw, Cottage (Schmier cheeze, pepper cabbage, apple butter, rivvel soup, and the baked delicacies with which she garlands her servings are all a part of a tradition of eating, common, but good.

A number of enterprises have developed in an effort to commercialize Berks food products. Some have met with fair success, such as corn meal, sun dried corn, bologna, Fasnacht (a doughnut baked in deep fat) and others. There are a number of factories manufacturing processed foods such as ice cream and candy. Berks County is noted for its good pretzels, which originated in Reading.

It is striking to note that four standard Pennsylvania German cook books most generally purchased are all published by Berks Countians.

Clothing

About 30 per cent of the total value of all forms of production in the county is contributed by manufacturers of hosiery, hats, shirts, shoes and other kinds of wearing apparel, and at present the largest producers of full fashioned hosiery and Textile machinery is located in West Reading. Other plants at Boyertown, Rosedale, Sinking Springs, Mohnton, Hamburg, Kutztown, Robesonia, Womelsdorf and Reading add to the total production of women's hosiery.

For the first four or five generations of textiles in Berks, the flax-brake, spinning-wheel, shuttle and handloom converted flax, or wool, into thread and cloth. Diligent matrons plied needles to give form and fit to garments, household linens, and canvass was made to cover the huge covered wagons of those days.

Hides were immersed in large vats in a solution to tan and were exchanged for shoes, harness, tobacco pouches or purses. The saddler, shoemaker, dress-maker, seamstress, weaver and knitter took his or her place in the community, along with such men as the blacksmith, coppersmith, joiner, wainright, or wheelwright. It was not uncommon to see a knitting machine in the homes around Reading, whenever the wife had time on her hands to run this machine and she made some kind of wearing apparel.

In 1844 James Jameson began the manufacture of men and boys clothing under the factory system, in the year of 1864, Louis Kraemer and some associates established a woolen mill at Stony Creek. Nathan Sprecher began the manufacture of shirts in 1876. Brusstard and Weile began in 1880. The Reading Mills in 1883. The Reading Cotton Mill was organized in 1849. This Company produced unbleached muslin, and were in business until this year.

In 1880 J. L. Eck began the manufacture of cotton hosiery in Kutztown, using machinery of his own invention, eleven years later he moved to Reading where he established a plant to manufacture knitting machines. During the twenty years that followed he made great stride in the hosiery business under the name of Boss Knitting Machine Works.

Ferdinand Thun and Henry Janssen came to Reading in 1892, they began their career on Cedar Street in Reading. Here began the manufacture of braiding machines—the business grew and was successful, so in 1896 they moved to Wyomissing where they established themselves in a second field of manufacture, machine made braid, was the origin of the Narrow Fabric Company. The Textile Machine Works, built the first American full-fashioned knitting machine in 1902. In 1906, under the management of Gustav Oberlander, is now the largest full-fashioned knitting mill in the world, and today it is known as Berkshire Knittink Mills.

The manufacture of hats ranked second in the clothing industry in Berks, as early as 1795 there were 38 hatters in Berks County, they produced more than 56,000 hats in that year, hats were made by hand until the middle of the last century when several hat makers introduced machines. The names Hendel and Mohn are outstanding among those who established the hat manufacturing industry in Reading. Curtis Jones and Company began the manufacture of shoes in 1885. Underwear factories in 1893. Overalls in 1896. In 1889 the Star Novelty Company began to manufacture aprons, dresses, and other ladies apparel, in 1880 Myers and Heim established an extensive clothing manufacturing business in Reading, Pa.

Berks County Speaking. Names of places.

There are thousands who still speak the Penna. German dialect which, for nearly two centuries was the dominant tongue in the county. But today English is almost universally used in trade and professional activities. The Indian and Welsh are forgotten in Berks. There are some parts where a number of Polish and Italian, and other immigrants reside, and where the languages of their homeland are kept alive through a generation.

The names of a few places and the meaning of them: (Oling) Oley, a place surrounded by hills; (Tulpewihaci) Tulpehocken, meaning a turtle country; (Gokhosing) Cacoosing, meaning the resting place of Owls; (Machsithanne) Manatawny, a place where we got drunk, these are native words of the Indians.

Heidelberg, Berne, Kutztown, (Kercher-town), Baumstown, Womelsdorf, from German and Swiss, Cumru, Caernarvon, and Brecknock, Welsh tongue. Reading, Windsor, Hereford, English tongue.

The relaying of messages beyond hearing distance was carried on somewhat informally during the early colonial period. A temporary postal service was established during the Revolutionary War. The first Post Office was established in 1792, when Gottlieb Jungman, was appointed the first Postmaster in Reading. The southern tip of Berks near what is now known as Morgantown, lay along the route that traversed by express riders who carried mail from Philadelphia to Lancaster before the Reading Post Office was established, and that was the only means of getting mail into Reading.

The first newspaper in Reading was die neue unpartheyische Readinger Zeitung, New Nonpartisan Reading Gazette, from 1789 to 1807, The Reading Adler began as a German newspaper in 1796. The Reading Times dates from July 19, 1858. The Reading Eagle in its present form as a weekly newspaper in 1868, others ventured in the field but their lives were short lived.

The first telegraph line built through Berks County connected Philadelphia, Reading, and Pottsville, the first message received in Reading was transmitted in May, 1847. It was a news item about the War with Mexico. The Western Union Telegraph Company was established in 1897. For a number of years Postal Telegraph operated an independent office in Reading.

Visitors at the great Philadelphia Centennial in 1876 were amazed when they watched Alexander Graham Bell demonstrate his new invention the telephone. Two years later 1878, Henry W. Spang operated two telephones connecting outer Philadelphia and Reading station and the freight station at Eighth and Buttonwood Streets. At first telephone wires were attached to trees, houseops, chimneys or flagpoles, the first exchange was established by Spang on the second floor of the Eagle Building on the southeast corner of Sixth and Penn Streets, during the course of time many independent companies were formed to serve in limited areas. Now the Bell Telephone Company has taken over all lines and it is now a public utility company.

Radio broadcasting was inaugurated in Reading, WRAW in JUNE, 1922; WEEU in January, 1932, and WHUM in 1946.

Miscellaneous

In the early days the means for light was tallow candles and, Schmutz Amschele, the first matches to dip into chemical compounds and extract burning were introduced about 1832.

Reading was incorporated as a borough in the year of 1783, and as a city on March 16, 1847. Gas was used for the first time March 13, 1849, in Reading.

The first national election was held January 7, 1789 in the United States.

January 26, 1869, Bessemer steel converter patented.

January 28, 1868, First Reading Eagle published.

January 27, 1880, Thomas A. Edison patented the incandescent lamp.

March 17, 1910, Camp Fire Girls organized.

January 25, 1915, First Transcontinental telephone message delivered.

Boroughs

These are merely mentioned because of numerous descendants of Johan Georg Haeffner who are now or were descendants of these boroughs.

Borough of Fleetwood

Fleetwood Borough is located one mile west of the original homestead.

Fleetwood had its beginning with the waves of German immigration to America between 1683 and 1776 and later. Some early settlers were given grants of land by John and Richard Penn, sons of the founder of Pennsylvania, and these tracts given to the Wanner, Ely and Schlegel families, are the boundaries of the borough. According to records, an Indian trail, a short cut from the Oley Valley to the Easton Road, now Route 222, led to the early small village.

In 1798 (some say in 1775) the first hotel was built at what is now the west corner of Main and Franklin Streets. It was long known as the Green Hotel, because of its color, and in later years was licensed as the Fleetwood House.

The second hotel, at the west end of Franklin Street, known as the Farmers and Drovers Hotel, and in later times as the Old Hotel, was built in 1804. The fact that these two hostelryes were built so close together in time indicates that there must have been much travel through Fleetwood in early days. The shield on the old hotel had two crows. Tradition has it that early travelers, either to arouse or to anger the sleeping landlords cawed like crows, one night, and so the town received the name of Crow Town (Kroppestaedel.)

Later it was called Coxtown because a man named Cox owned most of the land on which the few scattering houses were built. The first house was built about 1800. Most of the houses were of log and stone. The Cox family lived in one of the five log houses along Franklin Street. The last of the log houses, on the west side of Franklin Street, a short distance above the Old Hotel, was occupied by Hiram Gambler, who spent most of his life there.

The old grist mill at the south end of the borough is the oldest remaining structure, built in the early part of the nineteenth century, and enlarged in 1844. Another of the remaining buildings is the old Town Hall on South Richmond Street. The exact date of its erection is not known. It was built as a stone saw mill and was used as such as long as the industry was profitable. For several years the property was used by Schaeffer, Merkel, and Company to house its patterns. After the business changed hands, it was bought by C. F. Hill, who sold it to the borough. In 1905 it was converted into a town hall, and was used as such until 1916, when it was sold to C. A. Wanner.

Coxtown contained 25 buildings in 1856, three stone houses and the others, one-story log houses, occupied for the most part by mechanics and laborers.

On June 11, 1857, ground was broken for the railroad extending from Reading to Allentown. The last rail was laid April 29, 1859, and the road was formally opened May 19, 1859. It was chartered under the name of Reading and Lehigh. When this road was acquired by the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company, the name was changed to East Penn. It was a single track road through the borough until 1907, when, to meet larger requirements, it was double-tracked.

When the railroad was built, the name of the town was changed from Coxtown to Fleetwood. Some say it was named after Fleetwood, England, a resort of the rich and cultured. Others say that it was named for two men, Fleet and Wood, who surveyed the railroad.

The first industries were a blacksmith shop and farm implement repair shop on North Franklin Street. A wheelwright shop was located on East Main Street, at the corner of Main and Walnut Streets. An old grist mill, at the southwestern end of the borough, along Willow Valley Creek, was operated by John Hoch, who later turned the same into a whiskey distillery and continued the business until 1866, when the property was sold to George and William Cox, Reading, who formed a partnership with C. A. Messersmith and Henry Schaeffer. This firm changed the distillery, by building additions, into a wool mill. It was operated until 1872, when it burned down.

Thomas Mellon laid out the town in 1868, and on May 11 of the same year, the plan was approved by the town elders.

The Kendall Brothers, Reading, on September 3, 1874, laid out and surveyed the streets and alleys, an area of 300 acres.

Fleetwood was incorporated into a borough October 4, 1874, under the general borough laws of Pennsylvania. The first meeting of town council was held in school house No. 14, formerly of Richmond Township, and the councilmen took the oath of office to which they had been chosen by a special election held October 31, 1873, ordered by the court.

In 1902 the trolley line was built through the town.

Charles F. Hill Company, Incorporated, was organized as a company dealing in granite monuments, headstones, and stone memorials of all types, in July 1923.

The business was first begun by Charles F. Hill in 1869 at Main and Walnut Streets. It grew so rapidly that in 1897 he established the plant on Poplar Street, which has been operating ever since. Mr. Hill's sons, Lewis and Fred, were associated with him in the business.

Benjamin Messersmith was Fleetwood's first postmaster. The post office was instituted under the name of Coxtown on February 6, 1852. The name of the town was changed to Fleetwood on September 20, 1869, and postal money order service was first established on August 15, 1881.

The famous Fleetwood auto bodies were manufactured in the Borough. In the last 80 years the borough has grown in population as well as Civic, Fraternal, Health, Education, Spiritual and Veterans organizations for the betterment of the community in which we live.

Topton Borough

Topton Borough is located about 6 miles northeast of the Old Homestead, 17 miles northeast of Reading.

According to legend, the present site of Topton received its name when the Reading Railroad Company laid out the bed for the construction of a railroad in 1859 between Reading and Allentown. When the engineers had finished the work, it was noted that this community marked the highest point along the railroad bed between the two cities, and thus the then sparsely settled area was known as Topton (Toptown).

In 1861, at the request of local citizens, the Post Office Department of the Federal Government established the first Topton post office.

In 1877 leading citizens of Topton became interested in the incorporation of the village, the Courts of Berks County were consulted, and the wish of the people was granted. When the borough was incorporated, 53 names were listed as taxables, six of them single men, who were taxed fifty cents plus the assessment on their occupations.

The annual salaries of the first officers were as follows: burgess, $1.00; secretary, $10.00; treasurer, $5.00; tax collector, $8.00; highway commissioner, $1.00 per working day; laborers, $.80 per working day.

As the streets were very narrow and no sidewalks existed, one of the first ordinances passed by Borough Council was one regulating and removing fences on the grounds required for sidewalks.

In 1893 the borough purchased a tract to the south of the borough and established the first part of the present watershed. Springs were dug and cleaned, and a reservoir was built. Since that time another reservoir has been constructed. The land surrounding the original watershed has been purchased, springs developed and trees planted. Today the borough has a watershed of approximately 150 acres supplying the community with excellent spring water.

In 1902 agitation by the citizens moved Council to provide for street lighting within the borough limits. Twenty-five kerosene lamps were installed along the streets and Charles H. Christman was hired at a salary of $8.00 per month as the caretaker. The lamps were in use until June, 1918, when Council substituted electric lights.

In 1909 safety-minded citizens organized the Topton Hose Company, Council providing them with funds. The organization gave protection until 1915 when a re-organization was effected and the Topton Volunteer Fire Company organized. Frank Keiser was the first president, and C. E. Desch the first Fire Chief.

In 1905 the first provision for recreation was made, when Milton T. Butz asked Council for permission to erect an auditorium for the purpose of holding entertainments. The request was granted with a clause attached that certain organizations should have free use of the building during the year. The request was granted. Today there is a theater that operates every day of the year and a Recreation Board which provides facilities during the summer. Council has also purchased three small tracts with plans for erecting a borough recreational hall, a swimming pool, and developing a borough park. Authority to float bond issues for these was recently granted.

Civil and Social Organizations of Topton share in welfare of the East Penn. Topton Lutheran Orphans' Home is located in the Borough, where young people who have lost a parent or parents, are taught the principal things of life, spiritual and otherwise by teachers of good principal, to start them on life's journey, which is so much needed today. The borough has a number of industries.

Kutztown Borough

Kutztown Borough located halfway between Reading and Allentown on State Route 222, as most boroughs, had as their beginning immigrants from German descendants in this part of the country, this one was no exception.

During the year of 1736 preparations were made in June session of Court to lay out a road from Eagle Point, to Maxatawny, Pleasantville via Lobachsville, Stony Point to Kutztown. Maiden creek road near the mouth of Maiden creek to the Fort, Reading in 1745, and in 1779 the town was formally laid out, by a special Act of the Assembly, March 1, 1815, the necessary officers were elected and the first Town Council had their first meeting, thus Kutztown became the second borough in the county, Reading being erected in 1783.

The Kutztown Station, Philadelphia and Reading Railroad

The Kutztown of years past—about the turn of the century. Discernible in this view looking toward the college from Noble street are many buildings recognizable today. Indeed, were the street paved, car tracks removed, and “sidewalk-porches” torn down, the scene would be quite recognizable.

Stringent regulations by council were adopted January 29, 1818, just a few will be mentioned: 1. No company or rabble of minors shall gather in the streets, lanes or alleys or in any public house or other place after 8:30 in the evening during the winter months and after 9 P. M. during the summer months, behaving in disorderly manner, disturbing the peace or spoiling or damaging any property, Fine $2.00. Any person or persons found playing cards, dice or any other unlawful game in any public or private house or any other place or building shall be fined $4.00. The town began to grow and prosper.

The Keystone House, Kutztown, about 1915. Note the signboard, and the old porch which was a wonderful shelter against sun and storm.

The Kutztown Foundry and Machine Corporation today the largest employer of labor in Kutztown and the largest consumer of borough facilities, was first begun as a foundry and machine industry by Charles G. Zehm and Fred S. Zehm, who came to America from Herzberg, Germany. They came to Reading in 1854, but desiring to establish a business for themselves settled in Kutztown in 1866 and started business in the old Foundry and Machine Company buildings, which were located on Kutz's Alley, near the center of town. In 1869 they bought three acres of ground near the railroad station, and at that time the present plant had its beginning. The business was run as Zehm and Brother until April 1, 1896, when Charles G. Zehm retired. It then bore the official name of Zehm and Company until October 15, 1896, when it was incorporated into the Kutztown Foundry and Machine Company.

Hat making became an industry. Charles W. Esser, a native of Maxatawny, and the grandfather of Charles H. Esser, member of the Kutztown Publishing Company, started hat making in Kutztown. Hardware, drug business, tanneries, hosiery mill, brickyard, shirt factory, marble and granite works, shoe manufacturing and silk mill, all these had a humble beginning, but by hard work and co-operation was the success of this borough.

The Kutztown State Normal School was another benefit to the Borough because of their trained teachers in education and also in religious training and strict discipline.

Swan Inn, 208 West Main Street, where Martha Washington once stopped for tea, has been renovated throughout, and was re-opened as an Inn August 17, 1949 by the new owners, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Reidenauer. It has a capacity of 243 guests, including 150 in the two banquet rooms on the second floor, 55 in the first floor dining room, and 38 in the bar.

Tradition has it that the Inn was named for a hostelry in Londontown, which bore a swinging sign featuring a black swan. Today a modern sign, featuring swans, adorns the entrance, and the barroom is decorated with swans, the creative work of Paul Shankweiler, local artist.

It is also tradition that the Inn was built by a LeVan, of Huguenot descent. And intact is the sign bearing these words:

The most amazing part of the cellar is the solid tree trunk, no less than 42 feet long, which literally holds up the house. There is a similar one, not quite as long in the rear cellar. It is walnut, as are the other beams. In the rear cellar is a huge arch, in which tradition has it, the wines for the Inn were stored.

The Post Office was first established July 1, 1805 under the name of Cootstown. On September 19, 1835 the name was changed to Kutztown. In 1902 a track was finished for a trolley to run from Allentown to Kutztown and in 1903 another track was laid from Reading to Kutztown, which opened the way to travel by trolley from Reading to Kutztown. In 1870 team railroad made its appearance in Kutztown.

Civic, fraternal and religious organizations are a big factor in this community, The Kutztown Publishing Company has a wide distribution of their weekly paper, together with their famous printing of year books, family histories, and many others.

Not many Heffners resided in the borough, but today the population of the Heffners descendants is quite large. The Homestead is only about five miles to the southwest of Kutztown.

"Boompity boomp Kutztown" is what they called the Allentown and Reading Traction Company, among other more or less complimentary terms. Affectionately remembered by older residents of the East Penn for the long service they rendered, the trolley lines are gone today. To some, the Main Street of a small town will never seem quite right without them.

Lyons Station

Lyons Station is a community which lies about 3 miles to the northeast of the Heffner Homestead has few industries. Reading Railroad passes through the town, years gone by when a number of towns people worked on the railroad, and found other employment in Reading, Topton, Fleetwood and Kutztown, and today over fifty per cent are descendants of the Heffner Clan.

Post Offices

In 1792 rates of postage were established which remained unchanged for over fifty years.

Maria Ann (Mary) Heffner

Maria Ann (Mary) Heffner, first child of Martin and Esther Schlegel Heffner, B. Jan. 2, 1851; M. John Eberhart, B. Aug. 7, 1844; both born in Berks County, Pa. Sometime during the year 1875 migrated to near Maquoketa, Iowa, together with their four children; was employed as farm help and later rented a farm, planted crops, raised cattle until the year 1893.

In 1892, the Cheyenne and Arapahoe Indian Reservations located in what is now West Oklahoma was opened to white settlers and in November of 1893, he bought a relinquishment of 160 acres. The family migrated to Oklahoma to take possession of the land, living in dug-outs or huts; began farming such as raising cotton, corn, cane and raising cattle.

In 1901 the Kiowa and Comanche Indian Reservation was opened to white settlers. That was just south of where they were living at that time. This was the site for a town which is now Hobart, Oklahoma. They lived there until their retirement.
